ABOUT STTP

Research is required not only for students and academicians, but also for all professionals. Merely doing research is not enough if research findings are not published in form of research paper. Research paper not only gives recognition to authors but also forms firm base of knowledge and information for new aspirants. Thus, it is of utmost importance to publish the findings of research. While writing the paper, authors need to take care of various key aspects like contents of paper, language, format, etc. Furthermore, one also needs to take intense care of avoiding the plagiarism. Writing a good research paper is a skill and each researcher needs to enhance it in order to present his work effectively. Hence, primary objective of this STTP is to enhance the paper writing skills in participants. Along with above mentioned key aspects, thrust will also be given on basics and important process of research like problem identification, carrying out effective literature survey, social importance of research, etc.
