Report on Lan Game (BGMI) 2023 in CSE Department

LAN game in charge explaining about rules

An extraordinary activity of LAN gaming is organized by CSE Department. An exploratory survey was undertaken about the appeal of playing video games at a Local Area Network (LAN) event where personal computers are linked in order to play both face-to-face and online. First, we wanted to know who the visitors of a LAN event were, because there is hardly any research available about this class of gamers. Second, we wanted to know why they participated in a LAN event. The survey showed that LAN gamers were almost exclusively male, with a mean age of 18 to 22 years. They devoted about 3 hours each day to gaming. They were motivated by social contact and a need to know more about games.
